or call 311.

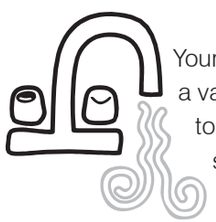
With your Minneapolis utilities, you get efficient, high quality services for a great value. Your tap water is clean and safe and has won taste tests against bottled water. Your garbage and recycling pickup comes with extras – for instance, Minneapolis collects your electronics. You even get a credit for recycling. And you might not be aware of how much we have underground, but the City is constantly maintaining and improving more than 1,300 miles of systems that help control flooding and manage more than 60 million gallons of wastewater a day.



Your tap water is a great value and a valuable resource. Find out ways to conserve this resource and save money on your utility bill.
