1. How have your life/work/cultural experiences prepared you to be a neighborhood representative on NRP Policy Board?

   Working in settings like schools and hospitals in Minneapolis has prepared me for incorporating a range of experiences into my thinking around neighborhood revitalization. My volunteer work with the Lowry Hill East Neighborhood Association (LHENA) also cosigns experience with directly managing neighborhood projects. I strongly believe in improving our cities capacity for developing around public transit, walkability, and bikeability as a foundation for revitalization.

2. How have you participated in your neighborhood organization?

   I have been chairing the LHENA environmental committee for 2 years where I draft committee budgets and agendas, organize community events, facilitate committee meetings, maintain working relationship/correspondence with multiple community actors (elected officials, city planners, neighborhood residents, local business owners, and non-profit organizations), write grants proposals and letters of support.

3. Describe why you want to serve on the NRP Policy Board.

   Bottom-up neighborhood revitalization efforts are, I think, one of the better ways of addressing issues in public health and environmental justice. Improving neighborhoods or cities happens most organically when you have the people residing in those areas actively participating in decision making, planning, and boots-on-the-ground volunteering, and finding a means where I can escalate that kind of work would be most meaningful to me.

4. How do you plan to maintain a relationship with the neighborhoods you would represent, if elected?

Active outreach, attending meetings, and thoughtful correspondence with neighborhoods and residents. Taking advantage of existing neighborhood newsletters, email-lists, and organizations bases to make and maintain contact with existing residents.

5. How do you plan to engage with under-represented groups within your district, if elected?

Communicating with as wide of an audience as possible when gathering input from community organizations. Consulting with service providers, community representatives, and government officials about challenges faced by certain groups and appropriate steps toward revitalization.
