Background Information:

The City of Minneapolis Department of Health and Family Support (currently the Minneapolis Department of Health) had an ombudsman model that provided direct services to seniors and the disabled. The position transitioned to NCR early 2012 where it was restructured to spearhead a citywide plan to address the opportunities and challenges Minneapolis would be facing with an aging demographic. The position evolved into the Senior Community Specialist whose role was to spearhead the planning and implementation of a strategy to create a city that supports this demographic change. In December 2012, the position was filled and the process for developing the strategic plan began in January 2013.

To date the current progress and timeline is as follows:

- December 2012, Senior Community Specialist position filled
- February 2013 the Strategic Plan Steering Committee with 17 members from city departments, community leaders, older adults, senior serving organizations and other partners was identified and commitment established.
- March 2013, NCR staff conducted research to identify current literature, best practices, themes, including a study by Wilder commissioned through NCR and released August 2012.
- March/April 2013 the Steering Committee reviewed the research, reports, statistics, studies, surveys and local, national, global community planning models for review prior to the first meeting and participated in a brainstorming exercise.
- The Steering Committee first meeting May 1, 2013 established the foundation of the plan with a vision, mission and four priority areas for goal setting.
- The plan draft was brought to the Senior Citizen Advisory Committee to the Mayor and Council as well as community groups for input in July, 2013. The draft addressed housing, transportation, the value and contribution of older adults and health and wellness. The community engagement sessions were completed by August, 2013.
- The Steering Committee integrated the information from each of the 6 community engagement sessions that had a collective total of 70 participants.
- The framework for the Minneapolis for a Lifetime Strategic Plan was developed articulating the Vision, Mission, Approach and 5 goals that will guide the development of objectives and action steps aligned with specific departments as well as overall city services.

Over the course of the next year, the Steering Committee will continue their work to identify opportunities and address challenges so Minneapolis will not only meet the needs of the aging "Baby Boomer" generation but maximize the rich resource this population brings to Minneapolis communities. NCR staff will work with the steering committee and other identified stakeholders and partners in coordination with City Coordinators office, Mayor's office, CPED, Public Works, Health, and Regulatory Services to develop measurable objectives and action steps to accomplish the 5 goals of the strategic plan.

Minneapolis for a Lifetime is a strategic framework to guide City of Minneapolis departments in their policies and service delivery to ensure that Minneapolis is an attractive place for seniors to age in place and to attract older adults to the many amenities the city has to offer.
