We all know that financing is only one part of a successful business. In addition to partnering with the City on the above loans, MCCD also provides the advice, counseling and technical assistance to businesses that can mean the difference between success and failure. The City utilizes the services of MCCD and its member organizations to provide help in planning, organizing and managing the businesses that are seeking financing for their projects. For more information on the services provided by the MCCD visit: <http://www.mccdmn.org>
