THANK YOU!

We appreciate the generosity of AARP of Minnesota for financial support of video recording and production of tonight's meeting. We thank Seward Coop for donating delicious refreshments for us all to enjoy. And, we thank St Peter's AME Church for providing space for our meeting.

Thank you also to our volunteers for their assistance and to all co-sponsoring organizations of The Future of East 38th Street meeting series.

Speakers and Special Guests

Clorasteen Wilson. Throughout all fifty-eight years that Clorasteen Wilson has lived in the Bryant neighborhood she has been, and continues to be, heavily engaged in voter outreach, policy advocacy, and community activities. She ensures neighbors know about candidates and can make informed decisions at the polls, and helped to elect our city's first African American mayor Sharon Sayles Belton. Ms. Wilson is a longtime delegate to DFL conventions, both at the state and local level. Notably, Ms. Wilson attended President Jimmy Carter's inauguration and was invited to attend the inaugurations of President Ronald Reagan and President Bill Clinton.

Doris Christopher. Doris Mae Christopher is a life-long Minnesota resident, born in Duluth and raised in Minneapolis. With over thirty years of service upon her retirement from Mid-Minnesota Legal Aid, Mrs. Christopher was honored by Minnesota State Bar Association with the Bernard P. Becker Legal Services Staff Award in 1996 and received a congratulatory letter from Senator Paul Wellstone. Active in political life, Mrs. Christopher the inauguration of the 44th United States President Barack Obama. Mrs. Christopher is a board member of the Park Elder Center and serves on the Rev Dr Martin Luther King Jr Park Legacy Advisory Council.

Iric Nathanson. Iric Nathanson has long-standing ties to East 38th Street. In the 1960s, just out of college, Iric worked as community organizer in the Central and Powderhorn Park neighborhoods. Now, 50 years later, he is a Business Advisor with the Powderhorn Park-based Metropolitan Consortium of Community Developers and has served as MCCD's liaison with the 38th and Chicago Business Association. Iric is also a local historian and the author of Minneapolis in the Twentieth Century, The Growth of an American City, published by the Minnesota Historical Society in 2010.

Judge LaJune Lange. Judge Lange, a retired State of Minnesota Trial Court Judge, is an internationally-recognized expert in Human Rights and International Development conducting assessments and programs in Qatar, Tanzania, Rwanda, Brazil, Malawi, Norway, Kenya, the Caribbean and other parts of the world. She is the founder and President of the LaJune Thomas Lange International Leadership Institute, where she develops legal, health and education programs while facilitating economic and intercultural exchange. Judge Lange serves on the Board of Regents of Augsburg College and is a senior fellow with the Roy Wilkins Center for Human Relations and Social Justice. She has served as Co-Vice Chair of the Minnesota Supreme Court Task Force on Racial Bias in the Courts, on the Minnesota Supreme Court Task Force on Gender Fairness in the Courts, and is also a founding member of the Minnesota Minority Lawyers Association.

Speakers and Special Guests

Louis Moore. Louis Moore is 72 years old, but you couldn't tell by looking at him. Louis has been a vehicular cyclist for 50 years and is a co-founder and President of the Major Taylor Bicycling Club. Mr. Moore worked for former Congressman Martin Olav Sabo for nearly two decades, and partnered with former Congressman Jim Oberstar on bike rides in northern Minnesota. Louis has gone on bike tours since the late '70s to support the United Negro College Fund. A long-time neighborhood resident Mr. Moore has lived in his home for 51 years. He coached football, basketball, and track and field at Rev Dr Martin Luther King Jr Park from 1964-1980.

Tracey L Williams-Dillard. Hard work and dedication to her multi-generational family and family business has always been Tracey Lynn Williams-Dillard's main focus. Tracey has a solid understanding of the beliefs and values of her grandfather, the late Cecil E. Newman, who founded the newspaper, and she is committed to continuing his legacy. At the tender age of eight, Tracey began her work at the paper, working odd jobs including mastering and operating the "Address-O-Graph" machine. Since 2001, she has been the president and chief economic officer of the 80-year- community newspaper. In 2006 she became owner and CEO of the weekly publication.

Wayne Glanton. Veterans affairs, civic and senior support activities represent just some of Mr. Glanton's current activities as he enters his ninth decade. Once serving as Commander of the John Baker Post of the American Legion, Mr. Glanton is now Commander of the Fifth District of the Minnesota Chapter of the American Legion, which includes all of Minneapolis. Longtime owner of an independent construction contracting business, Mr. Glanton's company built the Minnesota Spokesman-Recorder building among many other projects in the East 38th Street area. Mr. Glanton is a proud member of Palestine Lodge Number 7 and constant presence with the Sabathani Seniors.
