County Corrections clients within their neighborhood, within the residential structure. The approach of placing county probation services in the neighborhood was supported by the Mayor and others as a way to address livability concerns in the immediate area. The probation office has been operating in this location since 2004. While criminal activity remains an ongoing concern in the area, there have been noticeable improvements. The purpose of the rezoning application at this time is to bring the zoning and the use of the building legally into compliance. Office uses are first permitted in the OR1 district. Should the rezoning be approved, the building would be required to meet all applicable building codes as it pertains to the legal change in use.

The first floor of the existing structure has two rooms that are used as office and meeting space, and a kitchen. The second floor contains a bathroom and three rooms. The site has four off-street parking spaces, two within the garage and two in the driveway.

The Jordan Area Community Council is the neighborhood group and the applicant. They purchased the vacant house for this purpose.
