

Minneapolis Public Artworks

Seward Gateway: The Merwyn
Franklin Avenue E and 26th Avenue S
Marjorie Pitz, 2004

The Merwyn is a climbable and friendly creature, whose head, hands and fins emerge from the landscape. This “protector of Seward’s land and water,” was created during a recent renovation of Triangle Park, which was also designed by Pitz.

City of Minneapolis
Department of Community Planning
& Economic Development - CPED

Photo by Sue Hartley
Image not for reproduction