

Minneapolis Public Artworks

Turning Leaves

1315 Lowry Avenue N

Marjorie Pitz, 2007

Three whimsical leaf-shaped, wooden benches beckon visitors into the library. Turning Leaves is a play on words, as the benches appear to have floated down from the sky and gently landed on the ground. The artist also designed tile floor leaf pattern.

City of Minneapolis

Department of Community Planning
& Economic Development - CPED

Photo by Sue Hartley
Image not for reproduction