Notice of Ordinance Introductions

1. Eviction moratorium ordinance (2026-00019)

Wonsley gives notice of intent to introduce at the next regular meeting of the City Council the subject matter of an ordinance amending Title 12, Chapter 244 of the Minneapolis Code of Ordinances relating to Housing: Maintenance Code, authorizing eviction moratoria during states of emergency.

- No discussion or action was required at this time.

**A “notice of ordinance introduction” is a procedural process that ensures the public is aware of the named ordinance proposal that will come before Council at a later date.*

Unfinished Business

1. Humane encampment response ordinance (2024-00113)

Considering Mayor Frey's veto of Ordinance 2025-061 amending Title 11 of the Minneapolis Code of Ordinances relating to Health and Sanitation, adding a new Chapter 237 establishing provisions of a humane encampment response policy.

- Council Member Whiting “No” to override Mayor Frey’s veto of the humane encampment ordinance. This motion failed 7 to 6, because it required a 2/3 supermajority (9 votes) to override this veto.

CM Whiting's Thoughts on this Vote: The procedural nature of this vote meant that no discussion could be had, nor any amendments accepted, on the proposed ordinance. The vote was only to sustain or override the Mayor’s veto. Given that CM Whiting shares some of his colleague's concerns, both for and against this ordinance, he voted “no,” as no amendments to this ordinance were possible at this stage of the process. CM Whiting agrees that there is an immediate need for necessities – sanitation options, restrooms, storage space, etc. – for our unhoused neighbors and that this ordinance did suggest valuable additions to our public health response. CM Whiting also agrees that encampments are unsafe for both their occupants and the surrounding community. The current closure process seems to serve no one, perpetuating harm against unhoused residents while constantly shifting their impact to new neighborhoods when those encampments inevitably reappear.

Below are some of CM Whiting’s larger reservations with this ordinance:

- CM Whiting’s first concern is that the ordinance lacks specific language addressing encampment closures for groups of fewer than twenty residents. He worries that, without an amendment, this ordinance could incentivize a policy of rapid and chaotic closures of encampments to ensure the required threshold of twenty residents is not reached.
- Second, this ordinance fails to address concerns raised by the City Attorney’s Office about what the City should or could do when a twenty person encampment is created on private, no-trespassing City property, or near sensitive locations like schools and heavily trafficked parks. Without an amendment, CM Whiting is unsure how this ordinance would affect the City’s obligation to provide the requisite services on certain property.
- Finally, this ordinance has the potential to incentivize the creation of larger encampments. Understanding that the City would be required to provide services when an encampment reaches twenty residents, CM Whiting questions whether larger encampments could become more common.

Given the reasons above, CM Whiting believes this ordinance should return to the drawing board so that the new Council can address these concerns and ensure we are best supporting our unhoused neighbors. CM Whiting is committed to finding the next steps forward on this issue and is encouraged by previous council discussions around “Safe Outdoor Spaces.” He hopes to continue those conversations this term.

- Council Member Whiting "Yes" to the reconsideration of the agenda to remove public comment. This motion failed 7 to 6.
- Council Member Whiting put forward an amendment to this resolution that was accepted without vote by its author, CM Robin Wonsley.
- Council Member Whiting "Yes" to this motion. This motion passed 13 to 0.

CM Whiting's Thoughts on this Vote: Considering Minneapolis is living through terrifying and unprecedented times, and our City is experiencing a massive federal occupation targeting our most vulnerable residents, CM Whiting believes we must do everything we can to protect our residents – to include asking Governor Walz to consider an eviction moratorium. The City of Minneapolis cannot unilaterally declare an eviction moratorium, only the Governor has the authority to do that. While CM Whiting does not believe an eviction moratorium is a perfect remedy, nor the best remedy, he does believe it is a tool that has the potential to quickly alleviate some of the harm our immigrant neighbors are feeling.

Given the valid concerns regarding the harmful downstream effects the COVID-19 eviction moratorium had on a wide array of interests within the City and on its most vulnerable residents, CM Whiting introduced an amendment to add two essential edits to the resolution language. First, the new language tied the length of any enacted moratorium to the duration of the deployment of Federal immigration enforcement agents, and second, it requested Governor Walz ensure the long-term stability of all housing providers by providing emergency rental assistance to residents most vulnerable to attacks by the federal government, prioritizing those residents living in mission-driven nonprofit affordable housing properties. These amendments were approved unanimously by the full Council.

The political likelihood of Governor Walz enacting an eviction moratorium is low, and CM Whiting believes most of the Council's time should be spent ensuring there are ample resources available to provide emergency rental and mutual aid assistance to those who need it. He believes this to be a better, more immediate way to help reduce harm to our neighbors, and the City of Minneapolis, alongside philanthropic partners, are in active communication on how best to provide those resources as fast as we can. CM Whiting has urged his colleagues to join him in this action over the coming days and weeks.
